The division offers a master's degree specialization in Career and Technical Studies within the M.Ed. in Curriculum and Instruction. The program is designed for teachers and other persons responsible for vocational and occupational programs in public and private organizations.

Completion of this program will result in a degree in Career and Technical Studies. This is not, however, a Florida Department of Education approved teacher education program and does not result in state certification. Certification in vocational education in Florida is granted by local districts.

Course descriptions are listed alphabetically by prefix in the back of this catalog.
